Appeals court ruling set

CIA official seeking secrecy on kill plots

WASHINGTON (AP) — An anonymous former CIA official is making another effort to block publication of a Senate intelligence committee report that names him as a central figure in plots to kill foreign leaders.

A hearing on his plea to halt publication of the report until his name can be deleted from it is scheduled for today in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

Meanwhile, the intelligence committee begins two days of public hearings into what its investigators call 50 years of "massive surveillance of lawabiding American citizens" by the FBI.

Attorneys for the former CIA official argued in U.S. District Court on Monday that publication of his name would place his life in danger. Judge

Gerhard Gesell agreed, but rejected their motion for a temporary restraining order, saying that "the public interest greatly outweighs any private interest of the individual."

The attorneys immediately appealed. The panel must await the appeals court ruling before it can begin printing the 400-page report, scheduled for release Thursday following a secret Senate session.

The former official's name was not divulged, but his case was argued by the Washington attorneys who represented former CIA scientist Dr. Sidney Gottlieb in previous dealings with the Senate panel. Published reports named Gottlieb as a participant in alleged CIA plots to poison Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba.

The anonymous former official was described by his attorneys as having testified before the committee in return for a limited grant of immunity. Committee lawyers confirmed that only two witnesses have been granted immunity — Gottlieb and Robert Maheu, a former aide to Howard Hughes. Maheu, who was represented by a Las Vegas attorney, has publicly admitted his role in a 1961 plot to kill Castro.

Committee investigators billed today's hearings on FBI surveillance as "the first time that the full scope of the 50-year history of the FBI's domestic intelligence will be laid out in a public hearing."

The full extent of many FBI intelligence gathering techniques, such as break-ins, has been obscured by the FBI's practice of systematically destroying sensitive documents, investigators said. However, they said they have examined more than 20,000 documents relating to the bureau's counter-intelligence program. Coin-telepro, which attempted to disrupt activities of such groups as the Communist Party, the Socialist Workers Party, black nationalist, leftist and "white hate" organizations.

Nearly 60 high schoolers involved

Three mini companies formed to launch local JA program

Has anyone been checking the stock quotations of Loot Cam, Earnco or Cramco?

These three mini-corporations are a part of the local Junior Achievement program in Washington C.H. in which high school age youths form their own companies, sell stock and market handmade goods.

Nearly 60 high schoolers are participating in the program during the present school year to learn the various factors involved in the manufacturing trade.

The local Junior Achievement program has formed three corporations — Loot Cam, sponsored by Mac Tool, Inc., Cramco, sponsored by the Armco Steel Corp., and Earnco sponsored by the Washington C.H. Jaycees, the Dayton Power and Light Co. and the Huntington Bank.

The 60 participating Junior Achievement members were divided into the three corporations and they have decided what product to manufacture, elected company official and sold stock.

Loot Cam is making corkscrews and Earnco is hand-painting bicentennial trays while Cramco manufactures pencil holders and personalized matchbooks.

Members of each corporation are given one share of the companies stock to sell. In May, when the Junior Achievement program, liquidates its assets, the stockholders are paid dividends.

The corporations can market their products through door-to-door sales or by selling to a retailer.

This is the eighth year the Junior Achievement program has been operating in Washington C.H. The program also offers scholarships to participating youths and the local chapter sends representatives to the state Junior Achievement conventions.

Officials of the three corporations were announced Monday night at the weekly workshop. Kevin Curren was elected president of Loot Cam and Mark Smith was elected vice-president.

Kim Wheaton will preside over Cramco with vice-president of sales Glenna Buck and vice-president of management Margie Hiles.

Craig Curren was elected

Elementary physical education, guidance programs eyed

Board studies project priorities

By GEORGE MALEK

The introduction of an elementary physical education program, implementation of an elementary guidance program and improvement of the first grade reading program Monday night emerged as the top priority items of the Washington C.H. Board of Education.

Board members met in a special session following the regular school board meeting Monday to crystallize their feelings as to the programs and projects which should be targets of their attention in the near future.

The system is presently without an organized program of elementary physical education, and board members felt that this area was a primary concern. The consensus of the group was that one physical education instructor employed full-time could organize a schedule of activities so that each student in the third, fourth and fifth grades could have two physical education classes each week.

It was estimated that such a program would require appropriations for the program. It was noted that while guidance is valuable at the high school level, many unfavorable attitudes are firmly implanted in the student's mind by the time he reaches high school. It is important to guide the student at an early age the group concluded.

The program would require a guidance counselor to outline programs and coordinate the efforts of the classroom teachers in giving special attention to those students who could profit from individual guidance.

The cost of the program would be almost totally contained in the salary of the guidance counselor.

Turkeys need mothering, Warren County farmer says

FRANKLIN, Ohio (AP)—Turkeys need a lot of mothering but that doesn't mean you have to love them says farmer Henry Johnson.

"They are so dumb. We get them when they're a day old and most of the time they don't even know how to eat. They'd starve to death before they'd learn how to eat, so my wife goes out and puts a marble in their feed."

The Warren County turkey farmer explained the birds have to be attracted to the feed before they can learn to eat it.

His wife, Arlene, said she moves the marble around in the feed to attract them. The turkeys like the different colors in the marble.

Johnson said turkeys will also drown if you aren't careful. He said the water level in the trough should not be overfilled or the birds will go under.

The Johnsons produce 250 turkeys for sale each year and have little trouble selling them because many customers prefer unfrozen birds for Thanksgiving.

"We order them through a mail order place in Oakwood, Ohio," he said. "When they come in, the post office calls and we go get them."

An order of 250 turkeys is shipped in six boxes when the weather is hot but fewer boxes in milder weather.

"They have to separate them in the heat so they won't smother," said Johnson, who took over the business from his mother when she retired.

He did not take it over right away because of his growing family. "When turkeys are small, you have to be a mother to them too. They need a lot of attention."

In addition to being aggressive, Johnson said the birds are also easily confused.

"When they get on the roost in the shed, they can't figure out how to get down. They start to holler and finally just fall off. They sometimes bruise their wings, but it seems like the same ones always get back on the roost."

When his turkeys are finally ready to sell, the toms weigh about 25 pounds and the hens about 16.

"I never start to sell them until the first of November, and by the 15th I'm sold out," he said.

"We usually buy more hens than toms because they don't weigh as much and people prefer that."

Johnson does not advertise nor does he sell more than a few to any one customer.

"Fresh turkeys taste best," Johnson said. "I don't feel that way just because I sell them. It's just that freezing takes some of the flavor out."

Completion eyed Nov. 30

Hospital project target date set

The Fayette Memorial Hospital board of trustees is looking to Nov. 30 as the target completion date for work on the new hospital wing and laboratory facility.

If no major difficulties are encountered, the new wing, laboratory and emergency room area will be completed by the end of the month. In order to prepare for the additional space, the board has authorized Robert L. Kunz, hospital administrator, to advertise for bids on the 20 beds to be utilized in the wing.

Remodeling of half of the hospital's west wing is scheduled to begin at about the same time the work on the other areas is completed.

In other action, the board authorized payment of tuition for one staff member to receive training as a registered medical records technician; purchase of equipment in the amount of $1,448; and repair of the boiler at a cost of $1,568.

The statistical report presented by Kunz disclosed 311 admissions during October resulting in a total of 2,057 inpatient days. There was an average of 66.35 patients in the hospital each day, representing 77.83 per cent occupancy. In the medical and surgical division, occupancy stood at 84.49 per cent.

Twenty-seven births were recorded resulting in a total of 101 newborn patient days.

The average stay per patient during the month was 6.59 days while the average in the medical and surgical division was 7.28 days.

There were 1,320 x-rays taken, 6,372 laboratory test, 335 physical therapies administered and 1,144 inhalation treatments performed.

The emergency room treated 1,350 patients, 11 per cent more than during the same month last year. There were 58 major surgeries and 75 minor surgeries.

The hospital's actual revenue per patient-day this year has been $99.14. The budget called for $95.22 and the national average is $122.46.

The actual expenses per patient-day have been $101.95. The budget estimated $96.03 and the national average is $120.36.

The expense per admission to date has been $616.36 while the budget called for $570.66. The national average is $874.52, Kunz said.

Pity Paul Simon; he can't sing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pity Paul Simon.

Rep. Paul Simon, that is.

For some time now, he's complained when newspaper readers scan only the headlines and wind up confusing his actions with those of Treasury Secretary William Simon.

Now students at Case Western Reserve University, planning a lecture series and hoping to hear the views of the Paul Simon who used to sing in the Simon and Garfunkel folkrock duo, mailed a letter to Paul Simon of Carbondale, Ill., the congressman's home town.

Who got the invitation? Simon — the congressman, that is. He promptly accepted the invitation but warned:

"I have done some singing here in our office, over the objections of my own staff ... my wife also discourages my singing in the shower."

Coffee Break...

CANDIDATES from the November general election are reminded that they are required to file campaign expense statements with the Fayette County Board of Elections.

The deadline for filing the expense account statements is 4 p.m. Friday, Dec. 19.

Mrs. Mary Jean Jennings, elections director, urges all candidates, or committees that were formed in support of or opposition to issues or individual candidates, to file the statements before the last minute.

The board of elections office, located on the first floor of the courthouse building, is open from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. ... However, beginning Nov. 24, the office will be open from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. Monday through Friday. ... The office hours will be in effect until Dec. 23.

DO YOU or your organization want to participate in the annual Washington C.H. Christmas parade?

If so, all groups, marching units, bands or organizations (which haven't already completed arrangements) should contact the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce of their intent to participate before 5 p.m. Thursday.

OPEN HOUSE at the Washington C.H. Middle School building will be held tonight from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

A BLUE AND WHITE towel or a bar of soap will be the only charge to basketball fans wishing to attend "Meet the Team Night" at Washington Senior High School Thursday.

The freshmen, reserve and varsity squads will be introduced by head coach Gary Shaffer starting at 7 p.m.

Camera buffs will have a chance to photograph their favorite Blue Lions in a picture-taking session beginning at 6 p.m.

Another economic summit seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — American officials predict there will be a 1976 international economic summit of the sort that produced a tentative accord between the United States and France on currency exchange rates.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger told reporters Monday night that he expects another six-nation economic conference next year like the one that brought President Ford together with the leaders of France, Great Britain, West Germany, Italy and Japan at a 16th century chateau near Paris last weekend.

"If the conditions get critical, they will meet earlier," Kissinger said aboard Ford's plane returning here from Paris.

The crowning achievement of the three-day summit at Rambouillet was a still-secret agreement aimed at promoting more stable currency exchange rates. The pact was signed Monday by Treasury Secretary William E. Simon and French Finance Minister Jean-Pierre Fourcade.

Simon told reporters aboard Air Force One that specifics could not be disclosed but the agreement envisions daily monitoring of currency exchange rates by representatives of 20 nations. The 20-nation committee could recommend stabilizing intervention in world money markets by central bankers when rate fluctuations became erratic without "underlying economic reason."

Exchange rates not only affect world trade and investment but have an impact on everyone. They determine the price individuals pay for imported goods and the amount they receive for items they export.

The treasury secretary said the document he signed with Fourcade was being kept secret only so other countries involved could have a look at it first and debate it without feeling the United States and France were trying to dictate to them.

He said he hoped the agreement would be approved at an international meeting in January, and that Congress would readily approve necessary changes in the articles governing the operation of the International Monetary Fund.

Simon said that, under the agreement, there would be no firm limits within which currency rates might fluctuate. But he said sudden shifts in the value of any currency would be studied to determine if the changes were "irrational."

If members of the 20-nation committee determined that a particular currency was losing value without reason, he said, the country involved then would have to decide for itself whether to prop up its value.

The agreement represented a compromise between France's long-standing insistence on fixed exchange rates and the U.S. preference for permitting currencies to "float" or fluctuate in value in accord with supply and demand forces in world money markets.

Kissinger cited the agreement as "perhaps the single most significant" development to emerge from the summit, saying it would "put an end to debate of years" between the United States and France.

He said the accord should "put the field of international finance on a more stable basis than it has been in a long time."

Deaths, Funerals

WILLIAM E. SOUTHER SR. — Services for William E. (Bill) Souther Sr., 73, of 787 Duke Plaza, were held at 1:30 p.m. Monday in the Gerstner-Kinzer Funeral Home with the Rev. Ralph Wolford, pastor of First Baptist Church, officiating. Mr. Souther, a retired 19-year employee of National Cash Register Co., died Friday.

Pallbearers for burial in the Good Hope Cemetery were Bill, Marlyn and Dane Anderson, Rick Cottrill, David and F. Paul Souther.

Illinois gets coal conversion plant

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — A site near New Athens in Southern Illinois has been picked for a $237 million federal project for coal development which state officials say could be "the largest single project this country will see for some time."

Officials say the project will create hundreds of jobs in the tiny community some 30 miles southwest of St. Louis and it will be geared to demonstrate to the country whether high-sulfur coal can be converted cheaply to clean gas and liquid fuels.

The federal Energy Research and Development Administration on Monday picked the New Athens site over 15 other proposed locations in five other states.

The project will be financed by the federal and state governments and by a consortium of private firms called Coalcon.

"This is the first major coal development project to come down the line, and it's probably the largest single project this country will see for some time," said Sidney Marder, head of the state Division of Energy.

New babies healthier when delivered at home

CHICAGO (AP) — Mothers whose babies are delivered at home by midwives have fewer complications and healthier babies than those who go to the hospital, a California study shows.

The study, reported today in a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the American Public Health Association, was done by a health research team from Stanford University and the University of California at Santa Cruz. The team studied 287 home births performed by midwives from the Santa Cruz Birth Center from 1971 to 1973.

Of these, 231 "had completely unremarkable births at home," the researchers reported. For those complications that did occur, the researchers said, the rate was lower than that for the population as a whole.

It concluded that mothers who were not anesthetized and not drugged had lower risks than the general population and that natural childbirth at home

Ohio Bell rate increase opposed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's Public Utilities Commission continued hearings today on Ohio Bell Telephone Co.'s embattled request for an annual rate hike of $216 million.

The proceedings, which got under way Monday with a barrage of opposition testimony—much of it from Ohio's cities—are expected to continue several weeks. Technical testimony was on today's agenda.

The three-member commission is expected to take under advisement whether the company's residential subscribers should pay an average of $3 more a month, and whether there should be numerous other hikes for long distance calls, telephone installation, and a first time charge for directory assistance. It also would cost 20 cents instead of a dime to use a pay phone.

The commission called for initial testimony after the Ohio Bell request had been on file and under study for more than a year. It would follow a $98 million hike, effective in August 1974, after three years of deliberations.

Counsel for the company limited itself Monday to a brief opening statement after a parade of lawyers representing cities, state universities, private businesses, and senior citizens generally characterized the request as extravagant and discriminatory.

Charles Ballou of Cleveland, one of two attorneys who will present documentation of the increase for Ohio Bell, said during the past four years "spiraling inflation has eaten up (Ohio Bell's) profits...we must have it (the rate hike) immediately if we are to survive."

Ballou added that the case "is supported by 16 expert witnesses who will show that the amount asked is the absolute minimum to provide adequate service and the absolute minimum to which the company is entitled under law."

Joseph Meissner of Cleveland, counsel for the Coalition of Senior Citizens, called the proceedings "an expensive show" and said his clients were paying him only "the free breakfast I had this morning." He said Ohio Bell spends $25 million a year for accounting services and $4 million a year for advertising, while consumers can't counter ad in the media "because they (the media) need the advertising dollar."

Cities against the increase included Akron, Columbus and Cincinnati with Cleveland intervening separately. Also against the hike were Alliance, Bexley, Maumee, Cuyahoga Falls, Stowe, Fairborn, Barberton, Dublin, Fairlawn, Brook Park, Grandview Heights, Springfield, and Richfield in Summit County.

President leaning toward limited New York City aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is leaning toward approving $2.5 billion in loan guarantees for New York City but would veto a larger compromise aid bill worked out between House Republican and Democratic leaders, administration sources say.

One high administration source said Monday night that Ford will make a decision on the New York situation "within 48 hours."

The New York aid bill approved by the House Banking Committee is scheduled for floor debate today and for a vote Wednesday. The compromise measure appeared to be in serious trouble with both Democrats and Republicans saying it now lacks the votes for passage following some amendments voted Monday.

The bill as originally written by the committee called for $7 billion in loan guarantees through 1999. Over the weekend, House Minority Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona gave his support to an amendment he worked out with Banking Committee Chairman Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., calling for $4 billion in loan guarantees over a five-year period.

But the committee changed that proposal on Monday to include $3 billion in guarantees over a seven-year period and Rhodes then withdrew his support because of the time extension.

Administration sources said of the compromise effort by Rhodes that "Mr. Rhodes is doing his own thing," and that his work did not represent a White House trial balloon. Rhodes said last week he was working on the compromise without White House guidance.

The guarantee figure of $2.5 billion being considered by Ford is the one being recommended by his economic advisors, the White House source said. The advisers also are recommending that loan guarantees be for a short term, the source said, but he did not say how long a period.

Another White House source said Ford opposes the compromise bill. "He (Ford) is opposed to that bill. All they did was change some figures around," from an earlier version of the bill, the source said.

He said the White House has taken a congressional sampling of opinion and the results are that there should be no pledges of aid until New York takes the steps necessary to solve its fiscal crisis as best it can without federal involvement.

Many House members are waiting for a signal from Ford as to what would be an acceptable aid bill and at this time are unwilling to vote for a bill that would go to a certain veto.

The delay and uncertainty surrounding an aid bill makes it conceivable that Congress could not act in time to stave off a New York City default. Congress goes into its Thanksgiving recess at the end of the week and is not scheduled to return until Dec. 1, the day New York City could default on its obligations if it does not receive federal aid.

Seek Fromme case dismissal

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Lynette Fromme's attorney has asked that charges against her be dropped because prosecutors withheld evidence he says could prove she did not try to kill President Ford.

Attorney John Virga accused the U.S. attorney's office Monday of "willful suppression of evidence" and said U.S. District Court Judge Thomas MacBride must at least declare a mistrial if he refuses to drop charges. The issue is a statement one witness made to police that Miss Fromme declared, "it wasn't loaded anyway."

"They were actually in contempt of court," Virga said of U.S. Atty. Dwayne Keyes and his assistant, Donald Heller. "They were ordered to give this information to me and they didn't."

MacBride recessed the trial until Wednesday to give Virga time to interview witnesses. He said he would rule on the dismissal motion then.

Virga said he should have been given a copy of statements by James Damir at the start of the trial instead of last Friday when the prosecution rested its case.

Damir, a Sacramento college student, was in Capitol Park on Sept. 5, the day the 27-year-old follower of convicted mass murderer Charles Manson allegedly tried to shoot Ford as he walked from his hotel to the state Capitol.

Secret Service agents say they took a .45-caliber pistol away from Miss Fromme after she pointed it at Ford. A police officer says Damir later told him that he heard Miss Fromme say, "It wasn't loaded anyway," as she was being subdued.

Virga said Damir's statement constitutes exculpatory evidence — meaning it tends to prove innocence — and under a MacBride ruling should have been given to him before the prosecution began its case.

Damir testified before the grand jury that indicted Miss Fromme, but was not called as a prosecution witness during the trial.

Heller denied that he had willfully withheld critical evidence, noting that Damir had told him he wasn't sure if Miss Fromme had made the statement.

Stock list shows gain

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, still banking on hopes for agreement on an answer to New York City's money problems, advanced broadly in brisk trading today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials stood at 860.67, up 4.01 from Monday's four-month closing high. Gainers outpaced losers by close to a 2-1 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said an increasing number of investors appeared convinced that New York and Washington leaders would agree soon on a plan to deal with New York City's troubles and avert a financial collapse by the city.

Trans World Airlines was the most active issue on the Big Board, up 3/4 at 7 3/4. A 100,000-share block traded at 7 1/2. The NYSE's composite index of more than 1,500 common stocks showed a .13 gain at 48.53. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index rose .25 to 85.85.

Patty Hearst case slated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Attorneys for Patricia Hearst say they will be ready to present their case under the new Jan. 26 trial date and the prosecution says it expects to wind up its case against the newspaper heiress in two weeks' time.

"It's just impossible for us to know right now how many witnesses we will call," said Albert Johnson, one of Miss Hearst's attorneys, following U.S. District Court Judge Oliver J. Carter's postponement Monday of the trial from the original Dec. 15 date.

"Our investigation is just starting, for obvious reasons," Johnson said Monday following an hour-long meeting with Carter and the prosecution.

Lawyers said the judge had based his decision to postpone on a recent ruling by the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Eldridge Cleaver returns to U.S.

PARIS (AP) — Finished with life on the run, Eldridge Cleaver flew back to the United States today after expressing confidence that a change in the mood of America will assure him a fair trial.

The former Black Panther leader, wearing a navy blue French fisherman's cap, kissed his wife goodbye and boarded a U.S. commercial jetliner accompanied by three FBI agents.

Cleaver went unnoticed in the crowd of American tourists.

He was flying to New York after seven years of exile, with charges of parole violation and a grand jury indictment awaiting him. As a fugitive, Cleaver is subject to arrest on arrival in the United States. He faces California charges of assault with intent to murder.

"I feel completely relaxed," he said. "It's all happening very naturally. Somebody must know I'm coming in the States — I got a telegram this morning from a guy who said, 'Stay away from my house.'"

Cleaver was smiling, but his wife, Kathleen, was more serious. She said: "Eldridge wanted to go back without going to prison. He sees that's not going to happen. He made up his mind that he'll go to prison. He feels that the situation in which he is returning is one in which he'll be clearly understood."

Cleaver, who is 39, said he sent his children back to America on Saturday and his wife would follow him later.

He said his decision to return grew from his conclusion that the end of the

See setback for Franco

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Generalissimo Francisco Franco suffered another massive abdominal hemorrhage early today. Ten hours later his doctors said the bleeding was being controlled but had not stopped.

Other medical sources said the doctors were pumping blood into the 82-year-old dictator. They said another operation was under consideration, but the hemorrhage had reduced Franco's blood pressure and temperature, making surgery inadvisable for the moment.

Franco has had three abdominal operations in the past two weeks, but each has checked the hemorrhaging only temporarily.

Franco's chief surgeon, Dr. Manuel Hidalgo Huertas, spent the night in the hospital. A heart specialist and another doctor were rushed to the generalissimo's side during the night.

The husband of Franco's granddaughter, Don Alfonso de Borbon y Dampierre, also was called to the La Paz Hospital during the night. Don Alfonso, a first cousin of Prince Juan Carlos, the acting chief of state, left after two hours, presumably to inform the family of Franco's latest setback.

Chrysler starts Dayton layoffs

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Chrysler Corp.'s Airtemp division here announced layoffs of 239 recently recalled workers on Monday.

The layoffs are a result of the company's plans to introduce two new compact automobiles in January, said Wesley Wells, president of Local 775 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, which represents Airtemp workers.

The cars—the Dodge Aspen and the Plymouth Volare—will start being assembled at Chrysler's Newark, N.J.

Opening up the doors

It was a week notable for strides made toward less secretive conduct of the federal government. Having voted to require that all its committee meetings be open to the public except under special circumstances, the Senate decreed a day later that this must apply also to meetings of most federal agencies, commissions and boards. Both votes were unanimous.

This approval of the so-called government-in-the-sunshine bill marks a gratifying departure from ingrained customs of secrecy. Closed doors have barred the press and public from important aspects of the legislative process, and from decision-making in dozens of governmental bodies. Under the new law assuming that the House subscribes to all its provisions as it already has to the requirement for open committee meetings-secrecy will be greatly reduced.

The sequence of action on this matter is of importance. As was pointed out in debate, the Senate could scarcely demand open agency and board meetings without first imposing this requirement on itself. This was done, and the action with regard to numerous public bodies quickly followed. It was a great week for all who champion the public's right to know what is going on in government.

A WORD EDGEWISE....By John P. Roche

More than a bad joke

You may have noticed that diseases are not the only things that come in epidemics - so do books. I have, for example, a full bookcase of good studies of Southeast Asia and the Vietnam war, and I could have filled two more with the junk that I read and sent off to the town dump. Right now there are probably at least 25 works on the C.I.A. in process. But first prize in the book epidemic competition undoubtedly goes to Watergate and related issues; volumes on the sins of Richard Nixon & Co. could fill a library.

After reading Teddy White's superb "Breach of Faith," I swore a silent oath to go off Watergate. But, mea culpa, I have sinned: somebody sent me George V. Higgins' "The Friends of Richard Nixon" (Atlantic-Little, Brown), and the first chapter was like that proverbial first drink. Indeed, the analogy is more than appropriate - that first little drink led to a binge: I couldn't put the book down until I finished it.

Higgins brought to his chronicle some remarkable credentials. A former newspaperman, he was also a state and Federal prosecutor in Massachusetts and has written several novels about the seamier side of law enforcement. He has the special argot of the criminal, the cop, the bondsman, the prosecutor, and police-blotter journalists down pat. In "The Friends of Eddie Coyle," he wrote a novel showing his mastery of this genre; in "The Friends of Richard Nixon," he has produced a semi-novel of the same high order.

His premise is simple: to treat Watergate properly you have to realize that it was criminal conspiracy which any Mafia "capo" would consider a bad joke. But nonetheless it was a criminal conspiracy, not just old-fashioned fun and games in the great American tradition of dirty politics. Using the Nixon tapes and other materials of record, Higgins attempts to plumb the minds of the various principals as the whole thing began to unravel. This stream-of-consciousness technique leads on occasion to some non-stop sentences worthy of Sir Walter Scott, but by and large it comes off very well.

There are a number of lines which gave me the best laughs I've had in years, for which I gather Higgins has picked up some flak from reviewers for not being serious about the fate of the Republic. But in fact this is a very serious book about the vagaries of the American system of justice. Confessedly, some bias in favor of Higgins arises from his emphasis, on the paradoxes about Watergate I explored here at "that point in time."

Take this, for instance: discussing "Maximum John" Sirica's conduct in the trial of the burglars, "the man" (representing the collective wisdom of the courthouse regulars) says, "That really wasn't much of a trial, you know. It was more like an Inquisition. If you gave, say, Daniel Ellsberg that kind of trial, the whole faculty of the Yale Law School would be down carrying signs in front of the White House." Higgins (like me) resents this kind of moral double-bookkeeping, whoever employs it.

Elsewhere he flays the comic opera that "Uncle Sam" Ervin presided over, the Senate Investigating Committee, noting (correctly) that the only Senator who wasn't playing to the gallery was Daniel K. Inouye of Hawaii, but that the preposterous rules (which made filibustering by lawyers and committee members into an art form) frustrated Inouye's penetrating questions. True to his prosecutor's training, Higgins is horrified that the committee put John Dean on first and got his testimony on record, thus making it much easier for Holdeman and Ehrlichman to know what they were up against. This would never have happened in grand jury proceedings.

In essence, he makes the case for the professionals, like Earl Silbert, the original Watergate prosecutor, against the amateurs - like Ervin and his inept chief counsel, Sam Dash - who wanted to turn a legal prosecution for conspiracy to obstruct justice into a morality play. The point, as "the man" would say, is to get the (expletives deleted) safely in the slammer, not give sermons on civics. My one substantive argument with Higgins concerns his implicit assumption that had Watergate blown before Nov. 1972, it would have influenced the outcome of the presidential election; as I noted then, the voters consciously chose thieves over theocrats, figuring we know how to cope with thieves. The outcome justified this faith. But that's a trivial complaint about a fine book.

Ford campaign gears up

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — President Ford's Ohio campaign is gearing up early with the understanding he'll have competition from Ronald Reagan in the state's June primary.

Keith McNamara, the Columbus attorney picked by the president to run the President Ford Committee in Ohio, said that although Reagan hasn't formally announced as a candidate "we have to assume right now that he's going to."

McNamara conceded that the former California governor "has some support in Ohio" but he said "I think the president has a lot more." The campaign, he said, will seek to stress Ford's "openness and candor" and to further gain the people's confidence. "It's going all the time," he said.

McNamara moved this week into modest headquarters in a downtown Columbus professional building, a half block away from the Neil House Hotel where in a posh-three-floor layout he served in 1972 as deputy director of former President Richard Nixon's Ohio committee.

Unlike that well funded effort—which preceded Watergate revelations—McNamara isn't sure yet what kind of a budget the Ford campaign will have in Ohio. The president is limited nationwide to about $10.8 million in spending, under the new federal election law, and it will have to be prorated among the states.

"If Ohio becomes a national battleground, we'll get a good share of the funds," he said, adding again that it will depend on whether Reagan goes against Ford in the primary. "Of course, we won't be spending a lot in Ohio if there is no contest," he added.

McNamara believes an Ohio primary with a presidential contest could be crucial because for the first time in a presidential year the election will be held in June instead of May, and will come on the same day as primaries in New Jersey and California.

"Ohio, California, and New Jersey will be the last primaries in the country, and they'll be a lot closer to the national convention," he said. Republicans plan to hold their conclave in August.

McNamara is starting out with a staff of "four or five," he said, but has started recruiting "for what we think is going to be a fine staff."

Among them, he said, will be an attorney and an accountant to see that the committee fully complies with the new election law which he termed "extremely complicated."

He said "we want them looking over our shoulder every minute."

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

First wife's photo chills second wife's passion

DEAR ABBY: I am 39 and Len is 42. We've been married less than a year. My first husband died, and so did Len's first wife.

The problem: Len put two pictures in a large double frame—one of me and one of his first wife. He put these pictures in our bedroom on the dresser facing our bed, and he keeps looking at these pictures when we're in bed. (He's slightly cross-eyed so I can't tell whether he's looking at the picture of me or the one of his first wife.)

I feel very self-conscious with his first wife staring at me from the dresser, but I don't know how to tell him. I wouldn't mind so much if Len kept that picture in another room. Am I making myself clear?

How do I handle this?

INHIBITED IN INDIANA

DEAR INHIBITED: Level with Len. Tell him it's difficult to entertain romantic notions with that picture on the dresser. Len will have to make a choice between a dead wife on the dresser and a live one in bed.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a divorced woman, 23-years-old, with two small children. I met a 44-year-old man. He's a widower with a 15-year-old daughter living at home. He wants to marry me and take care of me and my children.

He has offered me a lovely home, a new car and lots of new clothes. He says he loves me. I told him I wasn't sure I loved him because he's my father's age, but he told me that I would learn to love him.

Abby, can a person "learn" to love somebody?

It is hard to pass up everything he's offering me, but I'm afraid my mom and dad won't think he's right for me because he's kind of bald, wears glasses and is not much to look at. Also, I'm afraid everyone will notice the difference in our ages, and they'll think I married him for his money.

Another thing: His daughter acts kind of cool to me. I'm afraid she might think I am taking her father away from her but I swear I'm not.

I had such a bad marriage that this offer is tempting. What should I do?

TEMPTED

DEAR TEMPTED: When in doubt, do nothing. You have too many fears and doubts about this man to marry him. Go slowly, dear.

And in answer to your question: No, I don't think a person can "learn" to love somebody. Perhaps in time, you could learn to appreciate his generosity, but that's not love.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married for 46 years. He is a good provider, but in other ways he is something else.

For example, he never wants me to go anywhere without him. One night, I went to a movie with our daughter, and he was so mad when I got home that the bedroom door was locked and I had to sleep on the floor since we don't have a full-length sofa.

He does all the grocery shopping. I quit going along because every item I'd put in the shopping cart he would put back.

I get a Social Security check for $101.94. My husband says that $2 a month is enough for me, and he wants the rest of it.

I am not happy. He has been this way since we've been married, but I stayed with him because of the children, and now it's too late to pull out. I need your help.

CONFUSED

DEAR CONFUSED: If your husband has been this way for 46 years, I doubt if you can change him. Have a key made for your bedroom door in case he locks you out again, hang on to your Social Security money and try to keep the peace.

City board eyes current projects

Members of the Washington C.H. Board of Education met in a very brief session for their regular board meeting Monday night.

The majority of time was spent discussing current projects which have already been completed or are nearing completion.

One of the two Middle School boilers has been repaired. Cost of the project was $6,000, and it was suggested that the other boiler be repaired this summer. Since both boilers are in operation during cold weather, the board was reluctant to have the other facility out of service for repairs at the present time.

Superintendent Edwin M. Nestor noted that the elementary lunch program is now operational at both Eastside and Belle Aire elementary schools. The program is moving smoothly, and implementation is expected at Rose Avenue and Cherry Hill elementary schools next Monday.

Clerk Mrs. Betty Elliott informed the board that federal funds in the amount of $49,784.92 had been received as reimbursement for the lunch program. The federal grant represents three-fourths of the total cost of implementation. The school system's general fund provided the remaining $15,595.

One item of concern to board members was a review of the honor roll and failure list. Of the 210 students in the freshman class, nearly 100 failed one or more subjects during the first nine-week grading period. Fifty-six failed two or more classes.

It was noted that the first grading period usually produces lower grades than the average for the year, and freshman shoulder the additional burden of becoming adjusted to the new surroundings at the high school. However, board members felt these contributing factors could not fully explain the large percentage of failures.

On the more pleasant end of the spectrum, it was also noted that 31 freshman were named to the honor roll.

IN OTHER matters, the board:

— Authorized a two per cent cut in the funding of departments in order to compensate for a two per cent reduction in state assistance enacted by Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes;

— Employed a bus driver, a lunchroom employee, a substitute teacher; and driver education instructors;

— Approved professional meeting and advanced study course reimbursements for several members of the faculty and staff;

— Authorized the use of computerized class scheduling at the senior high school at a cost of $1,397.70; and — Approved the use of a school bus for students in the Middle School physical education classes to attend an exhibition by the Russian gymnastics team in Cincinnati Dec. 15.

Watkins acts as lawyer

CLEVELAND (AP)—Ex-convict Edward O. Watkins, charged with kidnaping and bank robbery, says he can handle his own defense as well as anybody.

He acted as his own lawyer Monday when bond was set at $50,000 and a preliminary hearing scheduled for Nov. 26.

Watkins was charged in connection with the Oct. 30 holdup of a West Side branch of Society National Bank. Several bank employees and customers were held hostage for more than 20 hours after police foiled the robbery attempt.

The 56-year-old former Cleveland, who has a history of heart trouble, told reporters he robs banks because they're "a piece of cake." He said banks would rather buy insurance than pay to make their offices robbery-proof.

Watkins, who has a record for robbery stretching back to 1938 and once was on the FBI's most-wanted list, said if he had it all to do over again, he'd become a lawyer. He said he expects to spend the rest of his life behind bars.

Still seek escapees

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Authorities were still searching today for three inmates from Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane who escaped over the weekend.

No organized search was under way, the patrol said, but all leads were being investigated in Allen County where the institution is located and Shelby County where the inmates were believed to have stolen a truck.

The three men were among a group of five inmates who escaped from the facility in a state-owned car, taking four attendants as hostage.

The attendants were abandoned unharmed along with one of the escapees, William Murphy, 29, of Hamilton who injured himself during the breakout, authorities said.

The second inmate, Thomas Sturgeon, 23, of Cincinnati was found by the Allen County sheriff's department about a quarter mile from where the escapees abandoned the car.

The three were later believed to have stolen a truck from a church parking lot in northern Shelby County on Sunday, authorities said.

The patients who were still at large were Leonard Singleton, 23, of Cleveland, charged with escape, burglary and armed robbery; Jerome Stanley, 22, of Detroit, charged with kidnaping, rape and arson; and Irving Green, 25, charged with rape.

MT's FFA chapter receives coveted award at convention

The nation's highest award was received by the Miami Trace High School Future Farmers of America chapter at the 48th annual national FFA convention held recently in Kansas City, Mo.

FFA members Tim Schaefer, Doug Miller, Randy Writsel, Joel Eltzroth and Dave Anders and advisor William Diley accepted the national gold emblem chapter award on behalf of the 136 members of the Miami Trace FFA chapter.

The gold emblem award is given annually to chapters that carry out the most outstanding programs in the area of community service, cooperation, leadership, earnings and savings, state and national activities public relations, conduct of meetings, alumni activities, recreational activities and supervised occupational experience programs.

The award was presented this year to 123 FFA chapters from throughout the nation. Those chapters were recognized as the nation's best out of the 7,798 FFA chapters in the United States.

This is the second time that the Miami Trace High school chapter has received the coveted award as the local group was also recognized with the same award in the fall of 1973. The Miami Trace High School chapter was one of only three chapters in Ohio to receive the national gold emblem award.

Attendance at the national convention reached a new high as more than 20,000 members advisors and guests participated in what has become the largest annual convention of youth. FFA members attending were representatives of over 485,000 FFA members from throughout the United States. The convention was opened by Alpha Trivette, of Virginia, the national FFA president.

Highlighting one of the programs was an address by catcher Johnny Bench of the Cincinnati Reds. Bench, a former FFA member in Oklahoma, told the capacity audience that the teamwork which led to the Reds' world series victory can also be applied to the FFA organization.

Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller was the featured speaker at a morning session of the convention. "Today, we see young people searching for meaning in their lives in all sorts of ways, good and bad," Rockefeller said. "I cannot think of a better place to learn how to be a good American and a useful human being than right here through the Future Farmers of America program." Challenging the standing room only audience of FFA members, Rockefeller said, "We are counting on our future farmers to play an important role in keeping our nation's economy strong, at home and abroad. We are counting on you to continue the great American humanitarian tradition," he added.

Following the address, Rockefeller was presented with the FFA's honorary American farmer degree.

The six newly-elected national officers chosen to serve the FFA in 1975-76 included Doug Loudenslager of Morral, Ohio, who was elected vice president of the eastern region. Loudenslager will be the featured speaker at the annual Miami Trace FFA parent and member banquet to be held in April.

The local members, while in Kansas City, also attended the American Royal Livestock Exhibition which is held in conjunction with the annual FFA convention. The exhibition is one of the largest livestock shows in the nation.

Members also toured other places of interest in Kansas City as well as visiting other points of interest throughout the Midwest while traveling. Providing assistance for the local members to attend the convention were Curtis E. Fleisher, Miami Trace High School principal, and Guy M. Foster, superintendent, and members of the Fayette County Board of Education.

B'burg man fined by judge on cruelty to animal count

A Fayette County man was found guilty of cruelty to animals and fined $100 and court costs by acting Washington C.H. Municipal Court Judge Robert L. Simpson during Monday afternoon's court session.

Richard M. Holtschulte, 19, Hunt's Trailer Court in Bloomingburg, was found guilty of shooting a dog Nov. 1 at the mobile home court. He was arrested and charged by Fayette County Sheriff's deputies. Judge Simpson told Holtschulte $50 of the fine would be suspended pending one year's good behavior.

Judge Simpson also heard cases involving check fraud and shoplifting.

Carolyn J. Grooms, 28, of New Holland, was fined $100 and court costs by Judge Simpson when she was found guilty of shoplifting a rain bonnet and a sewing kit valued at $1 from Buckeye Mart store in the Washington Square Shopping Center on Sunday. Ms. Grooms was also sentenced to serve 30 days in jail with the time suspended for two years good behavior. She had been arrested by Washington C.H. police officers.

Pamela C. Ferguson, 21, Grove, was fined $100 and court costs by Judge Simpson after being found guilty of passing a bad check valued at $35.75 at the Kroger Co., store on Clinton Avenue, on Jan. 28. Judge Simpson also sentenced Ms. Ferguson to serve four months in jail with the time suspended for a year's good behavior. Twenty-five dollars of the fine were also suspended upon Ms. Ferguson's restitution with the store.

Firm to block foreign takeover

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton Malleable Inc. shareholders will be asked to approve a change in bylaws next month to protect their firm from an outside takeover.

A vote will be taken at the Dec. 3 annual meeting on proposals to require a favorable four-fifths majority of the shares outstanding to merge the company or sell its assets, unless the merger plan was approved by the board director.

Also, a fourth-fifths vote would be required to remove any or all directors of the company.

Shareholders also will be asked to approve a change to allow election of one-third of the board each year for three-year terms, instead of electing all directors annually.

Grace Church bazaar is set

Wagner Circle I of Grace United Methodist Church held the regular November meeting in the church parlor with 23 members and one guest present. Mrs. C.P. Wagner conducted the business meeting, when Miss Helen Slavens gave the devotions of the First Thanksgiving-telling the experiences of the Indians and Pilgrims. How thankful they were for the small achievement compared to the present great abundance! She closed with a Thanksgiving Prayer by Rozell Fair Fabiani.

Final plans were made for the Bazaar which will be Saturday (Nov. 22) in Fellowship Hall at the church from 9:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. Lunch will be served by the Ross Circle at 11:30, and everyone is welcome.

Mrs. Everitt Robbins of the Robbins Florist Shop in Greenfield, was guest speaker. Mrs. Robbins gave a very interesting demonstration of centerpieces and arrangements for Thanksgiving and Christmas decorations for homes. She had many arrangements on display which were very interesting to each member.

The hosts were Mrs. J. Paul Strevey, Mrs. L.L. Brock, Miss Florence Hidy, Mrs. H.D. VanZant and Miss Thelma Runyan who served refreshments appropriated for the season.

Delta CCL party in Waynesville

Delta Child Conservation League members entertained their husbands Saturday evening at the annual husbands' party, held this year at the 1776 Inn, Heritage Square, Waynesville.

Members and guests were welcomed by the vice president Mrs. Robert Browning and the invocation was given by Tom Mossbarger. A buffet supper was served in the spacious party room.

Following the meal, Euchre and Tripoli were enjoyed for the remainder of the evening, with prizes going to Mrs. Roger Rapp, Mrs. Wilbur Fleming, Mrs. John Cook, Will Braun, Alvin Armintrout, Tom Mossbarger, Mrs. Robert Taylor and Mrs. Browning.

Arrangements for the party were made by Mrs. Dwight Duff, Mrs. Mossbarger, Mrs. Browning, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Dave Krupla.

Those enjoying the evening included: Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Armintrout, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Bloomer, Mr. and Mrs. Will Braun, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Browning, Mr. and Mrs. John Cook.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Duff, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Fleming, Mr. and Mrs.

Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Rapp, Mr. and Mrs. Art Schaefer, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Taylor.

Country Club party Nov. 23

The Washington Country Club will have a pre-Thanksgiving party and dance on Sunday, Nov. 23, for members and invited guests. Jack Schrod-one man show- will provide entertainment and music for dancing from 4:30 p.m. A buffet dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m.

Reservations are required and must be made by Friday, Nov. 21 by calling the clubhouse or signing up in the club lounge.

Xi Iota Theta plans party

The open meeting of Xi Iota Theta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority was held in the home of Mrs. Bill Elliott. Mrs. Don Greenwood, president, welcomed guests and conducted the meeting.

A Christmas party will be held at the Terrace Lounge on Dec. 18. A social hour will follow with a gift exchange in the home of Mrs. Elliott following the dinner.

Other socials for the coming months were announced, and Mrs. Ed Eyre reported that the group will purchase a turkey for a deserving family for Thanksgiving.

A dessert course was served by the hostess. Mrs. Jim Aleshire will be hostess for the Nov. 20 meeting.

Gina Hamulak is 15 years old

Miss Gina Hamulak, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hamulak of 1028 Center St., was feted at a birthday and slumber party Friday by her friends. Gina, who was 15 years old on Nov. 12, served ice cream and cake along with punch to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Whitaker, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grimmer, her uncles and aunts, and her sisters and brothers-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Michele) McMurray and son, Michael, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan (Mileah) Jones and daughter, Melissa, also her friends, Gina Cotner, Toni and Terry Brown, Barbara Seay, Jocelyn Campbell and Becky Tolle.

MW Committee to meet Nov. 24

Assisting Mrs. Reichelderfer in the hospitalities will be Mrs. Joseph Elliott, Mrs. Gene Elliott, Mrs. Louis Morrison and Mrs. William McFadden.

Dr. M.H. Roszmenn will be guest speaker. His topic will be "Jerusalem Today."

MR. AND MRS. JONATHAN TYLER

Wickline-Tyler marriage vows in Knollwood Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church in Knollwood was the setting for the marriage of Miss Anita Kay Wickline, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wickline of Germantown, and Jonathan Bruce Tyler, son of Dr. and Mrs. John E. Tyler, 1553 Old Chillicothe Rd. The Rev. John D. Tyler officiated at the ring ceremony at 2 p.m. Nov. 1.

Fall decorations enhanced the church for the occasion, and Mrs. Rosalind Ryler of Richmond, Mich., aunt of the groom, presented nuptial selections on the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, wore a white double knit wedding gown with yoke of lace. Her floor-length veil was trimmed in matching lace caught to a matching band. She carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and baby's breath with white streamers.

Main of honor was Miss Cathy Myers of Lewisburg and Miss Cynthia Wickline of Germantown and Miss Lore Sue Tyler, served as bridesmaids. Miss Wickline wore a pink knit formal length gown and Miss Tyler a gold knit floor-length gown. Each carried an arrangement of fall flowers which matched her dress.

Konrad Tyler of Dayton served as best man. Seating the wedding guest was Robert Love of Dayton, and Peter Tyler.

The bride's mother wore a green double knit formal length gown and a white carnation corsage. The groom's mother chose a long pink gown with white carnation corsage.

Hostesses for the reception which followed at the church were Miss Virginia Strong and Miss Elizabeth Huffman.

The couple is residing in Fairborn. The New Mrs. Tyler is a graduate of Valley View High School and Wright State University. Her husband graduated from McClain High School, Greenfield, and also of Wright State University. The New Mrs. Tyler is employed at Dee Clark's Card and Gift Shop in Dayton, and her husband at Mutual Music Supply.

The groom's parents were hosts at the church the evening preceding the wedding for the rehearsal dinner.

Colonial Cookery

POPULAR back in Colonial days this Deep Dish Meat Pie is an easy dish to prepare. Brandy adds Colonial spirit.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN
CELEBRATE the Bicentennial by bringing back some early American food favorites. Convenience foods shortcut preparation but the flavors are as appealing this year as they were yesteryear.

Meat pie was a popular dish back in Colonial days. This one, with its flaky pastry topping, offers a satisfactory combination of veal, ham, potatoes, carrots and onion, moistened and blended with condensed cream of mushroom soup. A dash of brandy adds Colonial spirit to:

DEEP DISH MEAT PIE
2 cups finely chopped cooked veal
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of mushroom soup
2 cups cubed cooked potatoes
1 1/2 cups cubed cooked carrots
1 cup finely chopped cooked ham
Pastry for two-crust pie, rolled into 1 large rectangle
3 tablespoons brandy

In skillet, brown veal and cook onion in butter until tender. Stir in soup, potatoes, carrots and ham. Pour into shallow baking dish (12x8x2 inches). Top with pastry; trim. Cut three 1-inch circles from top of pie. Decorate top with cutouts made from trimmings.

The famed Blue Hole of Castalia, near Sandusky, Ohio, has been called one of the strangest springs in the world. A British officer passing it in 1761 described its spring coming from a hillside "with such force that it boils out of the ground in a column three feet high." Geologists say the wearing away of the ground resulted in the Blue Hole.

Fund lack closes Campbell schools

CAMPBELL, Ohio (AP) — The 2,000 students in Campbell public schools went on vacation today until Jan. 5 because the school system has run out of money.

It is the first public school system in Ohio to exhaust all operating funds this year.

State officials said five school systems closed during the 1974-75 school fiscal year for lack of operating funds.

Voters of this northeast Ohio community defeated—for the second time in three months—a 5.9 mill school operating levy Nov. 4.

School Supt. Robert Hedrick said a similar situation was prevented in 1973 when state auditors ruled that Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. owed approximately $90,000 in back taxes for 1969, 1970 and 1971. He said the firm paid the money, allowing schools to remain open, but is appealing the decision.

Hedrick said all school funds expected for the rest of this year are committed to pay debts.

He said the 106 teachers in the system will be paid for only the two days of this week on next pay day and will miss two pay days in December. Another 74 school employees working in support roles are also affected.

Dr. Franklin Walter, deputy superintendent of public instruction for the state, said in Columbus that Campbell schools took all proper steps preparatory to closing. Hedrick had asked for an audit, the first step in the closing procedure, before the Nov. 4 election, but auditors delayed their work until after the Nov. 4 levy vote.

"The auditors came in last Wednesday to check the books," Hedrick said. "Dr. Martin Essex, state school superintendent, called me Friday night and said all the requirements had been met and that we should close."

"I needed a couple of days to make preparations and this will be the last day of classes."

The students and teachers will miss 21 class days before schools reopen. These must be made up by June 30 if the school system is to qualify for state foundation funds.

Hedrick said the normal closing for the academic year would have been June 10.

"We may have to hold classes on some Saturdays and cut the Easter vacation short to make up the time," Hedrick said. "But right now I haven't worked out plans to catch up. If we extend the school year very much it could interfere with a lot of things, such as vacations and summer school classes."

"We kept going in 1974 just by cutting costs," Hedrick said. "We just didn't buy things we needed, make repairs or do any painting. We didn't do anything but pay the teachers."

"Now, we have been through two years of austerity and tomorrow we close."

Radio enticer nabbed by police

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Cleveland man has been charged with soliciting for prostitution through use of his citizens band radio which police say the man used to entice truck drivers to have sex.

Police charged Albert C. Braxton, 32, with offering sex to truck drivers passing through Cleveland. Braxton, whose nickname on the radio was "Hollywood Swinger," would cruise a highway here in a private car and arrange parties at the convenience of the truck drivers.

Police said they arrested Braxton after they overheard one of his conversations and arranged a rendezvous between a policeman and him.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — TV folks are starting to breathe easier. The Nielsen figures for a thing called HUT, homes using television, finally have shown a wee gain in evening viewing for the first time this season.

It came in the week ending Nov. 9, when the number of TV sets tuned to network and non-network shows at night was one per cent higher than in the same week in 1974, says Bill Rubens, NBC's top research man.

In the earlier weeks of the new season, set use was down by 4 per cent in the prime evening hours, but the number of viewers watching television was up by one per cent.

Some scribes claimed the drop in set use indicated viewers finally were getting fed up with TV. It isn't that simple, the networks said, citing what they considered a bit of mystery in the Nielsen statistics.

The mystery was that the figures showed viewing was up but set use down. As Rubens noted in recent interview, when viewing is up or down, so is set usage as a rule. Confusing? Bear with us a minute.

It's theoretically possible to record lower set usage but larger audiences, because Nielsen gathers its national audience data in two ways — with meters and diaries kept by viewers.

The meters are attached to TV sets in 1,200 homes. They provide immediate data on set usage and what programs are being watched and when. But they don't record the number of viewers at set-side.

That's done in diaries kept by 2,300 unmetred households, with a third of the homes filling in the diaries one week, another third the next week and so on, according to Nielsen.

It says it gets the diaries about 12 days after a given reporting period. The diaries say who and how many in each home watched which program and when. From this also comes data on the viewers' sexes, ages and other important demographic material.

Because the combined diary and meter figures showed set usage down and viewership slightly up early this season, the networks sent their experts to Nielsen two weeks ago to ask what gives.

The idea was to see if there had been any changes made.

Rubens says that to avoid overlapping effort, the networks now are having the inquiry made by an outside expert hired by a national audience research committee formed about 12 years ago by the three networks and the National Association of Broadcasters.

Meanwhile, Nielsen says it also is making its own check, "examining all areas that have any bearing on this, from the sampling methods, the statistical end of it, to the field and production work."

Rubens said the committee's findings may come in a few weeks. He emphasized that its inquiry in no way means he's starting to doubt Nielsen's research methods.

Controls, taxes to be meet subjects

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Government controls and the state's intangibles tax are expected to be key subjects at the annual meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation Nov. 30-Dec. 3.

Specifically, the subjects cover controls of agricultural exports and the intangible tax on grain.

More than 1,200 persons are expected to attend the meeting where 292 delegates will determine policy on exports, intangible taxes, federal inheritance taxes, real estate property taxes, rural crime, land use and rates charged for farm license plates.

Larder is derived from an old French word meaning "a place for keeping bacon."

'Panther Week' proclaimed by Fayette County villages

Two Fayette County villages, Bloomington and Jeffersonville, have proclaimed this week as "Miami Trace Panther Week" in honor of the Panther South Central Ohio League championship football season.

The Panthers went through the season undefeated with a 9-0-1 record after sharing the league title crown with Circleville last season. It marked the first back-to-back SCOL title win since Circleville's two championship seasons in 1966 and 1967.

It was also the Panthers second undefeated season in the last five years — Trace was 10-0 in 1971 under coach Roy Lucas.

Miami Trace has been turning out formidable teams in the 1970's finishing no lower than second in the last five years. Last season, the Panther grid program turned in a fine 20-3-0 mark counting the records of the varsity, reserve and freshman squads. This year the Panthers lost only two games while winning 20 and tying two giving the grid program an astounding 40-5-2 record over the past two seasons.

Since coming to Miami Trace three years ago, Panther coach Fred Zechman has become the winningest coach in the Panther's 15-year history. He is also the only Trace coach to win two league titles and he is the only Panther mentor to have more than one winning season.

Zechman has registered a 23-6-1 mark in his three seasons at the Panther's grid helm giving him three winning seasons in three years.

Dan O'Brien, who was the Panthers first coach, registered one winning season in three years. Don Staggs and Roy Lucas each carded one winning season in two years at the Panther helm while John Beckley failed to register a winning season in five years as the Panther head coach.

Zechman has been blessed with talented material, but not experienced players.

Fourteen of the 22 positions were lost to graduation after last year's co-title season, but the Panther coaching staff molded a championship team despite losing 15 seniors. The Panthers sported nine starters on offense that were first year men and seven on defense, yet they completely dominated the league statistically.

Zechman will lose eleven seniors to graduation this year and one is Greg Cobb, who was voted to the all-league team three years in a row. The linebacker-offensive tackle was one of the key reasons for the Panthers success.

Also, lending his ability to Panther success, was sophomore quarterback Art Schlichter. Schlichter has not lost a game that he has started at quarterback in organized football.

He piloted the Panther reserve team to an undefeated season last year and did the same for the varsity this past campaign. He has also gone through two years of Pony League and two years of Junior High grid action without a loss.

FRED ZECHEMAN

Zechman will have Schlichter and 25 other gridders back for next season, so this probably won't be the last "Miami Trace Panther Week" observance in future years.

Ohio State holds top spot

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON

AP Sports Writer

Ohio State, Nebraska, Texas A&M, Michigan and Alabama held onto the top five spots in The Associated Press college football poll today while Texas moved up to sixth place ahead of defending national champion Oklahoma and Notre Dame and Southern California dropped completely out of the Top Twenty.

With two weeks left in the regular season, Ohio State received 46 first-place votes and 1,136 of a possible 1,160 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters following a 38-6 rout of Minnesota, the unbeaten Buckeyes' 10th consecutive triumph.

Nebraska received 11 No. 1 votes and 1,058 for a 52-0 mauling of Iowa State. Last week, Ohio State led 49-8 in first-place votes and 1,138-1,054 in points.

The other first-place vote and 887 points went to Texas A&M, a 33-14 winner over Rice. Michigan, which meets Ohio State Saturday, earned 756 points by defeating Illinois 21-15 while Alabama trimmed Southern Mississippi 27-6 and totaled 671 points.

Texas climbed from seventh to sixth with 609 points by downing Texas Christian 27-11 while Oklahoma needed a late touchdown and two-point conversion to nip Missouri 28-27 and slipped from sixth to seventh with 590 points.

Arizona State held onto eighth place by trouncing Pacific 55-14 but Notre Dame, No. 9 a week ago, bowed to Pitt 34-30 and disappeared from the Top Twenty. It was believed to be the first time since a 2-7 record in 1963 that the Irish were not in the rankings.

Colorado moved up from 10th to ninth by beating Kansas 24-21 while idle Penn State rose from 11th to 10th.

The Second Ten consists of Arizona, Florida, California, UCLA, Georgia, Miami of Ohio, Pitt, Missouri, Arkansas and Maryland. Last week it was Penn State, Arizona, Southern Cal, Florida, California, Miami, Kansas, Missouri, UCLA and Georgia.

Pitt, which dropped out of the Top Twenty a week ago following a loss to West Virginia, made it back by whipping Notre Dame. Arkansas reappeared following a four-week absence by trouncing Southern Methodist 35-7 and Maryland climbed back in after a week's absence by edging Clemson 22-20.

Here are the Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press college football poll, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points based on 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

1. Ohio St. (46)	10-0-0	1,136
2. Nebraska (11)	10-0-0	1,058
3. Texas A&M (1)	9-0-0	887

Nebraska rejects Fiesta Bowl bid

By ED SHEARER

AP Sports Writer

Nebraska, one of the nation's top college football powers, is laying it out on the line with an "either-or" policy — and as a result, it may not participate in a bowl game for the first time in seven years.

The unbeaten Cornhuskers, currently ranked second in the nation, voted twice Monday to reject a Fiesta Bowl invitation and either accept a bid to the Orange Bowl or none at all.

That situation developed after Coach Bear Bryant of Alabama surfaced to deny his team was ducking anybody, as charged by the coaches of Nebraska and Oklahoma. But Bryant admitted he hand-picked Penn State to face his team in the Sugar Bowl game.

The flurry of activity two days after the opening of bowl invitations left only one berth definitely open among the 11 major bowls — and possibly two, if Oklahoma beats Nebraska Saturday in the showdown for the Big Eight title and the Orange Bowl berth awaiting the winner.

Oklahoma, ranked sixth, has agreed to face the Western Athletic Conference champion — either Arizona State or Arizona — in the Fiesta Bowl, but Nebraska declined to join in the agreement.

Hayes unhurt by enmity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Woody Hayes, the crusty, old football coach of top-ranked Ohio State, says he enjoys the intense dislike Michigan fans show for him.

"It doesn't hurt my feelings at all. It's the greatest compliment I could have," Hayes told newsmen Monday.

"They (the Wolverines) couldn't beat me with two Michigan coaches. So they had to come down here and take a coach (Bo Schembechler) I trained."

"And they haven't beaten me with him yet. He was my first graduate

John Moir succumbs; top basketball player

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP) — Memorial services were planned today for John Moir, a threetime basketball All-American at Notre Dame in the 1930s, who died here over the weekend at the age of 58.

assistant at Ohio State and later a fine line coach for me," Hayes said of Schembechler.

Hayes holds a 3-2-1 edge over his former assistant going into their summit meeting Saturday for the Big Ten title and accompanying Rose Bowl berth. Overall, Hayes is 15-8-1 against the Wolverines.

Hayes has won all three games in Columbus, 20-9 in 1970, 14-11 in 1972 and 12-10 last year. Schembechler's triumphs were 24-12 in his first Michigan season in 1969 and 10-7 in 1971. The 1973 contest ended in a 10-10 tie.

Someone asked Hayes if he would play for another deadlock since that is all his team needs to go the Rose Bowl for a fourth straight season and fifth in the last six years.

"I've tried to think about everything that might come up in the game. But I won't talk about it until after the game," responded Hayes.

—Liberty Bowl, Dec. 22: Southern California vs. Arkansas or Texas A&M.
—Sun Bowl, Dec. 26: Pitt vs. Kansas-Missouri winner.
—Peach Bowl, Dec. 31: North Carolina State vs. West Virginia.
—Tangerine Bowl, Dec. 20 — Miami of Ohio vs. opponent to be selected.
Both Osborne and Coach Barry Switzer of Oklahoma have criticized Bryant, charging he was bypassing their teams in favor of 11th-ranked Penn State. The Sugar Bowl, however, denied Bryant had applied pressure to bypass the Big Eight powers.

Teams preparing for opener

SCOL cage fight set

By PHIL LEWIS

Record-Herald Sports Editor

Four new coaches and one new team will make their debut in the South Central Ohio League cage race this season.

Gone are the head mentors at Hillsboro, Circleville, Unioto, and Miami Trace while Madison Plains enters its second SCOL season after a season layoff last year.

There will be plenty of new faces on hand at Friday's league preview in Greenfield, and the many changes that have taken place are leaving preseason predictors somewhat muddled.

Several surprises last year are enough to keep all the league coaches wary of each SCOL team. Circleville had two starters back from a 13-5 squad last season and glided through its schedule with 22 straight wins. The Greenfield McClain Tigers were battling through a mediocre season when they caught fire in time for the post-season tournaments. Washington C.H. got off to a miserable start after being tabbed a league contender. Unioto also had its problems finishing at .500 in the league after returning four starters from a 13-5 squad.

On paper, it looks as if Circleville will again be the team to beat for the league crown this season, although graduation has claimed two of the Tigers' top players, Harold Reed and Perry Hoskins. However, the biggest Circleville loss will be John Lawhorn, the Class AA Coach of the Year.

Lawhorn moved on to Warren Western Reserve High School and he is replaced by James Bailey, who spent the last three years doing a commendable job at Olentangy High School. Bailey's philosophy is similar to the departed Lawhorn's — fast break and pressure defense.

Bailey will have the material to work with in first team all-leaguer George Moore (6-3, center), second-teamer Biff Bumgarner (5-11, forward) and honorable-mention all-league choice Mike McCoy (5-10, guard).

Brent Mancini, (6-0, guard-forward) who was the Tiger's sixth man last season, will also be back.

Greenfield McClain's varsity was ripped to pieces by graduation. Bill Flynn, the floor leader; Joe Stewart; Steve Willet; Gary Barr; and Jeff Holsinger will be sorely missed by coach Sam Snyder, who now has six seasons at McClain under his coaching belt making him the dean of the SCOL.

Steve Harvey (6-2, forward) is the only starter returning from last year's squad that surprised everyone by fighting to the finals of the state regionals at Athens.

Harvey averaged 15 points a game and led the Tigers in rebounding. Five other lettermen will be returning, but only guard Jim Jones has seen any action in pressure situations.

Several league coaches are looking for Washington C.H. to take the SCOL crown. The Blue Lions' Gary Shaffer has three big guns back from last year's fourth place team in Chuck Byrd (6-0, guard), who was the league's leading scorer with a 20-point average; Doug Phillips (6-3, forward) and sophomore John Denen (6-3, forward).

Shaffer used two juniors at center last year, but one, Dewey Foster, has chosen to forgo this year's cage campaign leaving Ken Upthegrove, a 6-1, leaper, at the post position.

Hillsboro and Unioto both finished with 6-6 records in the league last season to tie for third, but Hillsboro has two starters returning while the Tanks lost all five starters including 6-7, all-league center Greg Alcorn.

Both teams have new coaches this year as Bill Hogan replaces Bob Ream, at Hillsboro who moved to Glen Este High in Cincinnati, and Dave Warne takes over for Bill Newland at Unioto.

Hogan will have to find several competent cagers to go with 6-2 center, Tim Fuller, who led the Indians in rebounding and averaged 13 points an outing last season.

Warne came up through the Unioto ranks after coaching the school's junior high squad for two seasons and the reserve for one. He will have three lettermen back in Roger Rutherford (6-2, forward), Scott Brumfield (6-4, center) and Jim Johnson (5-8, guard), but all saw only limited action last season.

Warne will probably get little help from last year's reserve squad that finished in the league cellar with a 0-12 mark.

Wilmington Hurricane coach Larry Bartram will enter his third year at the Hurricane helm hoping to improve an successive 3-15 seasons. The Hurricanes lost only one starter, Bill Crowe, by graduation. In fact, Crowe was the only senior on the varsity squad last season that sported six juniors, three sophomores and a very talented freshman, Gary Williams.

Williams gained honorable mention all-league honors last season in leading the Hurricane scoring attack with a 14-point average. The 6-3 sophomore can play any position on the floor and Bartram will mold the rest of his squad around Williams' talents.

Miami Trace will be trying to regain some of its league basketball prestige this season after suffering through a dismal rebuilding year under coach Dale Creamer.

Veteran coach John Woolums replaced Creamer at the Panther helm and he has all the key players back from last year's squad including all-district choice Alan Conner (6-1, forward).

Several of the league's coaches have tabbed the Panthers as possible SCOL contenders, who are expected to use their speed to great advantage in league play this year.

Madison Plains under coach Steve Stewart will enter SCOL play this season. The Golden Eagles played three league schools last year coming out on top in just one, an overtime win against Washington C.H., while dropping games to Hillsboro and Greenfield McClain.

Much of the coach Stewart's firepower came from center Dave Joselin, who average way over 20 points a game last season, but Joslin is gone leaving the Golden Eagles with little hope of challenging the league powerhouses.

A four touchdown performance by Circleville's Biff Bumgarner in the season finale against Hillsboro gave the senior tailback a commanding lead in the SCOL scoring race.

Bumgarner finished with 108 points to outdistance Wilmington's Gary Williams, who placed second by virtue of a strong toe over Miami Trace's Art Schlichter.

Williams got nearly half of his 68 points on kick conversions and field goals to edge Schlichter's 62-point total. Panther teammate Bruce Ervin finished strong with five touchdowns in the final two outings to total 58 points and place fourth.

Washington C.H. sophomore Jeff Elliott dropped to fifth with 54 points as the Blue Lions were shutout in their final two games.

Hillsboro tailback Ken Captain followed Elliott with 50 points while Court House's Mark Fisher tied for seventh with Wilmington's Russ Crosthwaite despite sitting out half of the season. Both gridgers finished with 48 points.

Jackie Maggard scored all but one of Madison Plain's eight touchdowns this year to finish ninth with 42 points and Trace's Rex Coe rounded out the top ten with 38 points.

DESPITE GOING undefeated with a 9-0-1 record the Miami Trace football team placed 13th in its region in the final Ohio High School Computerized Football Ranking System.

The Panthers finished 72 points behind Cincinnati Moeller in region four of class AAA. Moeller goes for the state title against Lakewood St. Edward this weekend. Wilmington High School is also in region four and the Hurricane finished 40th.

Washington C.H. placed 16th in the Class AA rankings behind top finisher Cincinnati Wyoming which is also in the state finals this weekend. Circleville finished fifth in the same region followed by Greenfield McClain at 31st. Unioto which lost to both Hillsboro and Madison Plains topped the two teams in the final rankings. Unioto was 44th while Hillsboro placed 48th and Madison Plains ranked 55th.

THE WORLD'S HEAVIEST twins will rumble into Washington C.H. this weekend as part of the sometimes theatrical professional wrestling card.

After appearing on several network television talk shows, the McGuire twins, whose combined weight is estimated at 1,500 pounds, have apparently turned to wrestling to keep food on the table.

The twins will be joining another family duet, Flying Fred and Wild Bull Curry. Fred calls himself an aerial artist, who is king of the drop kick. He can reportedly throw 19 kicks in less than 30 seconds. Bull is currently "The Brass Knuckles Champion"—whatever that is.

There will even be something for lady wrestling fans this Saturday night at the Middle School gymnasium. Betty Starr will face Janice Jay in one of the card's four matches.

There promises to be plenty of excitement and skulduggery a foot in the matches. For those of you who go in for this sort of thing, the matches start at 8 p.m. and tickets can be obtained from any Washington C.H. Jaycee members.

ANYONE INTERESTED in touch football? The Zanesville Touch Football Association will host a flag and touch football tournament November 28 through 30.

Ohio Touch Football Sanctioned teams will be charged a $50 entry fee while non-sanctioned teams will have to pay $60.

Teams that are presently participating in organized leagues as well as newly formed teams with no affiliation are invited to enter.

If any local pickup teams wish to obtain more information on the tourney, they should contact Hank Shaffer at the local Community Education office of the Department of Parks and Recreation in Zanesville.

WHEN THE USA faces the USSR in a heavyweight boxing card at Cincinnati's Riverfront Coliseum tonight, an undefeated super heavy weight will be fighting for the first time outside of the state of Illinois.

The reason why Floyd "Jumbo" Cummings has been so restricted in his movements is because he is currently serving 50 to 75 years for murder at the Stateville Correctional Center in Joliet.

Cummings stands 6-3, weighs 230 pounds and has a 32-inch waist. A natural athlete, he has high jumped 6'2", long jumped more than 21 feet and dead-lifted 660 pounds.

His boxing career started in the fall of last year when a boxing program was first instituted at the Joliet Correctional Facility. Now he is in serious training for the 1976 Olympic Games after just six prior fights. He won all six on his way to the Illinois State AAU heavyweight championship.

Cummings is still very inexperienced as a boxer and tonight's international competition is extremely important to him because if he does well, he might be allowed to compete in next year's Olympic trials.

THE CINCINNATI REDS are joining the other 23 major league baseball teams in selecting the "Most Memorable Moment" in each of the teams histories.

The Reds are currently polling sports editors and announcers in the area to select the Cincinnati entry for the nation-wide contest.

After each team picks its most memorable moment, fans all over the country will vote to select the winner for all of major league baseball, next season.

Although the Atlanta Braves with Hank Aaron's 715th homer, the New York Yankees with Don Larsen's perfect World Series game, or the Giants with Bobby Thompson's game winning homer in the 1951 playoffs may have the edge, the Reds have a few memorable moments to put in the competition.

Some memorable moments are Johnny Vander Meer's second consecutive no-hitter, The major league's first night game in 1935, Johnny Bench's ninth inning homer in the fifth game of the 1972 playoffs and don't forget Joe Morgan's dramatic ninth inning single in the seventh game of this year's World Series.

BEULAH PARK General Manager Robert Houser has announced that the Grove City track has cancelled plans to race from December 2 to 8, meaning that the fall thoroughbred meeting's final program will be run on Monday, December 1.

Original plans called for the central Ohio oval to race through the first week in December, but conflicts with racing at Latonia and the annual exodus of many Beulah stables to points south figured to diminish the number of quality horses available.

The entire handicap and stakes schedule will still be run with the $15,000 added Anticipation Stakes reslated for the closing day. The $7,000 Au Revoir Handicap, a closing feature annually at Beulah Park, will also be run on the closing program.

Cleveland coaches sign new contracts

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitching coach Harvey Haddix, bullpen coach Jeff Torborg and third base coach Dave Garcia have agreed to return for the 1976 baseball season, the Cleveland Indians announced Monday.

Gen. Mgr. Phil Seghi said first base coach Tom McCraw will become minor league hitting coach. McCraw prefers to work with the younger players, Segi said.

Seghi said a new first base coach would be named after applicants have been screened.

Bills defense mars O.J. show

Bengals outfight Buffalo

CINCINNATI (AP) — How good was Cincinnati quarterback Ken Anderson Monday night?

Teammate Chip Myers thinks Anderson's 447-yard aerial assault against the Buffalo Bills puts the young National Football League signal caller at the head of the class.

"I've never a day when a guy was so precise," said Myers, whose seven receptions for 108 yards helped the Bengals overcome a 197-yard rushing feat by O.J. Simpson for a nationally televised 33-24 victory over the Bills.

"He's by far the best quarterback in the game," said Myers. "Every pass he had time to throw was perfect."

The fifth-year pro from little Augustana (Ill.) College called it "my best performance."

Even the vanquished Bills agreed that Anderson was something else.

"Anderson was unreal," said Simpson, who fell three yards shy of breaking Jimmy Brown's all-time career mark of five 200-yard games.

"He's cool, efficient...the best we've ever played," said Bills defensive end Walt Patulski.

Anderson, hitting 30 of 46 passes with no interceptions, shredded the Buffalo secondary to shatter by 95 yards his former club record of 352 yards set last year against Houston. He fired a pair of touchdown passes to Lenvil Elliott and Charlie Joiner and methodically moved the Bengals the length of the field when necessary.

"We knew we'd have problems with the pass," said Simpson, "but he just picked us apart."

The victory put the Bengals, now 8-1, back in a first place tie for the American Conference with the Pittsburgh Steelers, who face a stern test Monday at Houston. Buffalo dropped its fourth game in the last five outings to fall to 5-4.

Cincinnati never trailed in the offensive free-for-all, twice building 10-point leads and opened the margin to 13 early in the fourth quarter.

But Simpson, who bolted for 154 yards in the first half alone, kept the Bills battling back. Buffalo closed the gap to 30-24 with eight minutes left, but Anderson marched the Bengals 79 yards for an 18-yard field goal by Dave Green that provided breathing room.

"The game went the way we were afraid it would go," said Cincinnati Coach Paul Brown. "We couldn't stop them and they couldn't stop us. We threw a lot because seven points came so suddenly."

Anderson hit three of his receivers for a total of 337 yards. Isaac Curtis, who suffered a bruised ankle, caught seven for 139 yards. Myers had seven for 108 and Joiner snared five for 90.

"We just kept coming on," said Brown. "Defense has done the job in the past, but this time it was the offense." The Bengals running game chipped in 108 yards to help set a club record with 549 total yards. The previous mark was 532 against Philadelphia in 1971.

Cincinnati's 33 first downs represented a second club mark. The Bengals never punted in the game. Rookie running back Stan Fritts had two Cincinnati touchdowns on goal line dives.

Squires sinking

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The final piece of a financial puzzle being assembled to keep the Virginia Squires of the American Basketball Association alive for the rest of the season either falls in place today or the team becomes the league's third casualty in five weeks.

The outcome was to be announced at noon, EST.

If favorable, officials said it would mean the naming of a new coach — probably within 24 hours — to replace Al Bianchi, fired two weeks ago after serving as the only coach since the franchise moved here five years ago.

Jack Ankerson, the Squires' general manager, said after a second meeting of stockholders Monday night that a single telephone call sometime this morning would either bring good news or spell death for the local franchise.

"They have a good team and they simply kicked out butts," said Simpson ripped off runs of 59, 44, 17, and 14 to pull ahead of his 1973 pace when he rumbled for an all-time record of 2,003. He made two of the Bills three touchdowns.

It was the 31st time Simpson surpassed the 100-yard mark. "I didn't know I had 197 or was close to 200," he said. "I'd have liked to have gotten the record, but there will be other days."

Opening lead - queen of spades.

The finesse is one of the most valuable instruments of play, but it is a weapon sometimes abused. Consider this deal where West led the Q-J and another spade, which declarer ruffed.

South played the queen of hearts, covered by the king and ace, but then had to lose two trump tricks and go down one.

Had South led a low heart to the ace, instead of leading the queen, he would have made the contract, losing only one trump trick instead of two. The question is whether he should have known to play a low trump rather than the queen.

A little reflection would have convinced South that a low heart is the right play. If the trumps are divided 3-2, it makes no difference which heart is led. Regardless of where the king is located, South loses precisely one trump trick against proper defense.

If the trumps are divided 4-1, the queen lead always loses the contract, while the low lead makes the contract about half the time.

The low lead to the ace wins whenever there is a singleton king and also whenever East has four to the king and no more spades. Declarer loses only one trump trick in both these cases.

The only time the low lead unconditionally loses against a 4-1 division is where West has four to the king. In that event, declarer loses two trump tricks and goes down one. The queen lead gains nothing in that case because declarer is doomed whatever he does.

It follows that the queen lead never gains a trick and in some cases loses a trick, while the low lead often makes the contract and is never the cause of losing it.

Drug Clinic for Arteriosclerosis?

A clinic has just opened in our city. They charge $30 a visit for a special drug treatment for hardening of the arteries. It would be worth it if it did any good. Can you tell me if this treatment has been proven successful?

Mr. O.E., Ohio
Dear Mr. E.:
It is always astonishing how quickly some people jump on the bandwagon to exploit the sick.

Clinics of the kind you mention are springing up and dispensing drugs without the supervision of physicians. Many people are being tempted to try this process, known technically as "chelation treatment for arteriosclerosis."

In a very recent issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association, Dr. Alfred Soffer, of the University of Chicago Medical School, says, "Until adequate evidence becomes available in arteriosclerosis (hardening of the arteries) drug status in respect to this condition must be regarded with skepticism." Dr. Soffer warns that chelation drugs should be used only in research centers. They should not be dispensed in "special clinics" while the drugs are still in an experimental phase.

My advice is to stay away from these clinics and consult your own physician.

I have a lot of pain in my back. My doctor X-rayed my back and found that I have spurs on my spine. Can these be taken off? Is it safe to have this done?

Mr. P.T., Minn.
Dear Mr. T.:
The problem of low back pain is most distressing to patients and to the doctors who treat this condition.

Bony spurs are frequently seen in most people past the age of 40. The exact location of spurs and the pressure made by them determine the form of treatment that is used.

It is difficult to say that these spurs can in themselves be responsible for, and the only reason for, the pain you describe. Consequently, there is no general rule as to the need for the removal of all spurs.

Spurs can be removed with safety. However, before such surgery is contemplated all other possible reasons for your back pain must be carefully studied. There are so many overlapping reasons for back pain that the elimination of one may not be the total answer to your problem.

I do not have the feeling from your letter that your doctor has suggested surgery. Rather, I feel that this is your own personal hope for relief.

DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers, and, while he cannot undertake to answer each one, he will use questions in his column whenever possible and when they are of general interest. Address your letters to Dr. Coleman in care of this newspaper.

Hospital
refund plan
gains renewal

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Blanchard Valley Hospital's Patient Guaranteed Program— which gives patients refunds for poor service—has resulted in 15 claims and widespread enthusiasm among the hospital employees. And it has been renewed for another year.

The guarantee promises patients a rebate for poor food or careless nursing care, housekeeping or lab service. Medical treatment and a patient's physician's services are not covered by the guarantee.

The hospital board set up the program to help cope with increasingly higher medical care costs, according to administrator William Ruse.

"Even though our costs are about 20 per cent below the average for northwestern Ohio, they're still high," Ruse said. "We felt a hospital should be able to do things to meet a patient's expectations. If we're not doing our job, the patient shouldn't be paying."

Claims the first year have amounted to $147.50, ranging from sour milk to nonoperating television sets. The only serious claim was filed by a patient who fell from his bed and required treatment.

The attitude of hospital employees has changed from one of initial disbelief when the program began to one of enthusiasm, Ruse said. He added that the board had confidence in its staff or it wouldn't have entered into the program.

The hospital budgeted $1,000 a month from its investment income for claims. Any amount not used during the year goes back to employees in the form of bonuses, Ruse said. Each of the 550 people at the hospital will receive about $25, he said.

The program has generated wide publicity, with stories of the guarantee reaching readers as far away as Malaysia, Ruse said.

Dozens of hospitals around the country have contacted him for information about the program, Ruse said. But to his knowledge, it remains the only one of its kind in the country.

MINNIE HA HA
BLUE BIRDS

President Kelly McConkey called the meeting of the Minnie Ha Ha Blue Birds to order, when plans for the Christmas Parade were made and two future trips planned.

The group recently visited Court House Manor Nursing home and took patients cookies. Cheryl Wilson taught the group two new Camp Fire Songs.

Refreshments were served by Shelly Templin, and the next meeting is planned for Nov. 20 with Amy Everhart in charge of refreshments.

The Camp Fire candy sale was discussed and all money is to be back to Mrs. Simpson by Nov. 28 or 29, no later than the 29.

The meeting was adjourned. Girls presented were Mary Ann Simpson, Kelley McConkey, Kelley Jones, Joelle Lipscomb, Angie Knisley and Cheryl Wilson.

Columbus man held for mailed threats

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William Harvey Carrell, 53, was arrested Monday by the FBI after he was indicted in Brownsville, Tex. for mailing a threatening communication.

Carrell, a self-employed auto parts dealer here, mailed a threatening letter to a former business associate, according to the FBI.

Carrell appeared Monday before U.S. Magistrate Mark R. Abel, who set bond at $5,000.

Did you ever notice how much fun it is to get a letter with a snapshot in with it? If your letter is to tell about something, then it's logical to send a picture of that something. Now that goes for a businessman sending a picture of a product he's trying to sell, or a snap of the kids in a letter to grandma.

Of course, many of my friends are photographers and you'd be surprised how often I get letters with photos enclosed. You know, like "Here's the family room we just finished", or "Take a look at my new car after my wife totaled it" — get the idea? And it's a great idea to include a snapshot with your Christmas cards, or better yet, send a photographic card. Think about it.

Lots of folks are taking advantage of our special offer on the wallet-size prints from an original portrait. That 20 for $3.88 price which includes making the negative and the 20 prints is a good price — and that's in color. The black and white price is much less. You know, that might just solve the problem of the pictures to put in with the Christmas cards.

Did you ever wish somebody would make a 12 exposure roll of film for 35mm color prints? Agfa has. You can now get AGFACOLOR print film in the 35mm size in 12 exposure length. And, guess what: AGFACOLOR IS NOW AVAILABLE IN 110 SIZE FOR THE POCKET CAMERAS! You may want to give this fine German film a try.

Board to probe loss of ship

By GEORGE ESPEER
Associated Press Writer
CLEVELAND (AP) — The U.S. Coast Guard today convened a four-man Marine Board of Investigation to probe the sinking of the ore carrier Edmund Fitzgerald during stormy weather in Lake Superior last week.

Officials of the Seafarer's International Union Great Lakes Division protested in advance, charging in a letter to the Coast Guard commandant in Washington that the board would be passing on its own qualifications.

Vic Hansen, general counsel for the union, called for an independent, experienced board of inquiry, or a body made up of a majority of members from outside the Coast Guard. The four members are all Coast Guard officers.

Both Hansen and his co-counsel, Nel L. Mann, were on hand for the inquiry. Hansen carried a list of recommendations on how the inquiry should be conducted.

"We don't want a regular Coast Guard hearing," said Mann. "We've been through this before. They do certain things perfunctorily. We want to do much more."

While the board is not empowered to fix civil or criminal liability, both Mann and Coast Guard spokesmen agreed its findings may have a bearing on an anticipated rash of suits filed by survivors of the 29 crewmen lost on the Fitzgerald.

Mann said that he filed on Monday in U.S. District Court here a $2 million suit against Oglebay Morton Co., the ship's operators, on behalf of Karren Pratt, of Lakewood, Ohio, widow of James A. Pratt, 44, the Fitzgerald's second mate, and Mary Poviach, of Bradenton, Fla., widow of John J. Poviach, 49, a wheelsman.

Mann said the suit charged that the ship was "negligent in getting out into those waters this time of year with the kind of equipment it had." He said the ship was "unseaworthy," and recalled that in November 1966 the Daniel J. Morrell also sank in the Great Lakes with 28 of 29 crewmen aboard lost.

"The Great Lakes are tremendously hazardous this time of year," said Mann. "November is a bad period."

A spokesman for Oglebay Morton Co. said the Fitzgerald was inspected as required by law and fully certified by the Coast Guard last spring.

Mann said through his cocounsel that the Coast Guard Board of Inquiry "passes on its own qualifications of seaworthiness. Did it have the proper equipment? Was there structural failure? We want independent people on the board who are experienced. We are concerned about safety at sea. The Coast Guard is conducting a hearing into itself. I think we will have some problems."

Sheriff's top aide indicted

CLEVELAND (AP) — Maj. Edward W. Payne, the second highest ranking man in the Cuyahoga County Sheriff's department, and two other department officers were indicted Monday by a county grand jury on charges including theft in office.

The grand jury charged Payne, one of Sheriff Ralph Kreiger's closest aides, with the theft of $250 May 9 from property in the department's possession and theft of two pearl-handled pistols April 19.

Payne also was charged with intimidation Aug. 1 of Donald W. Campbell and Phillip S. Vari, two former sheriff's deputies who testified before the grand jury.

Also indicted was Capt. Ronald Brown. He was charged with intimidating Campbell and Vari on May 15 and June 28. Brown also was charged with theft of three walkie-talkies April 19.

The grand jury also indicted Deputy Robert DeSimone with stealing a FM converter and a gallon of liquor from property in the possession of the department.

Sheriff Kreiger would not comment on the indictments. Payne is a former state liquor agent who worked under Kreiger when the sheriff was agent in charge of the Cleveland district office of the Ohio Department of Liquor Control.

Payne resigned in 1968 when Kreiger was first elected sheriff and joined Kreiger's staff.

This 'n that

The regular meeting of the board of directors of Fayette County unit of the American Cancer Society, originally scheduled to be held tonight in the First Presbyterian Church, has been postponed until a later date due to the death of Dr. Charles M. Pfersick.

The First Presbyterian Church will sponsor a soup supper from 5 until 7 p.m. tonight at the church. The supper is sponsored by the church youth council.

Prayer breakfast draws 75 persons

Seventy-five were present at the teen prayer breakfast held at the South Side Church of Christ Tuesday morning.

"What Does Jesus Mean To You?" was the topic for the meditation time led by the Rev. Charles J. Richmond. There were nineteen present from Miami Trace High School and fifty-six from Washington Senior High School. Christy Davis and Natalie Upthegrove, sophomores at Washington Senior High School, led the singing accompanied by Linda Hollingsworth, senior at Washington Senior High School.

After a breakfast prepared by LaVonne Creamer, Viva Johnson, Kathy Fountain, Mary Ann Rudduck, and Francis Starkey, Eddie Cottrell spoke on "Things Impossible." He used several examples to show that God had done the impossible with Gideon, Joshua at Jericho, and Daniel. He emphasized that with God all things are possible.

The next prayer breakfast will be Tuesday, Nov. 25, at 6:45 a.m. with a Thanksgiving emphasis. All teens, grades nine through twelve, are welcome to attend.

The dry weather that began Saturday was to continue today across the state.

High pressure covering the Ohio Valley to the lower Great Lakes is bringing sunny skies and light winds to the state today. Highs were to be in the upper 50s to the mid 60s.

Skies today were to be hazy with some scattered clouds. Otherwise, conditions appeared favorable in most sections for viewing the eclipse of the moon. The eclipse will be in progress when the sun sets this evening, as the full moon rises.

Last night, skies were clear except for patches of heavy fog in the Ohio Valley. Temperatures dropped to the low 40s in some areas and to the 30s in other.

Continued mild weather is scheduled for Wednesday, with the high pressure remaining, and afternoon temperatures reaching the 60s.

Police check minor mishaps

Three traffic mishaps were investigated by Washington C.H. police Monday. All involved only minor damage and no citations were issued, nor injuries reported.

A car driven by Terry S. McDaniel, 26, of 604½ Leesburg Ave., backed into an Ohio Bell Telephone Co. van at 12:22 p.m. Monday in a parking area behind 111 Draper Street.

A car driven by Joseph P. Loudner, 62, of 209 River Road, backed from a parking space in a private lot in the 200 block of S. Fayette Street and struck a car belonging to Gloria L. Rich, 42, of 830 Dayton Ave. Police reported the mishap at 10:18 a.m. Monday.

A car driven by Mary K. Shonkwiler, 49, of 407 Western Ave., backed from a parking space at Helfrich's Market, Delaware Street, and struck a car owned by Stanley F. Wisecup, 73, of 513 Earl Ave., at 8:54 a.m. Monday, police reported.

Criminal trespass suspect arrested

A Washington C.H. man was arrested by Washington C.H. security officer O.M. Montgomery and charged with criminal trespass at 11:31 p.m. Monday.

According to the report, Montgomery discovered Max E. Stevens, 44, of 65 Flint Drive, within the confines of the Washington Lumber Co. cycloned fenced-in area at 319 Broadway. Stevens is presently incarcerated in the city jail in lieu of $250 bond.

The Jeff Pollard residence at 515 Gibbs Ave. was burglarized and ransacked sometime between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday, city police reported. Two pizza pans valued at $4 were stolen.

Lieutenant governor speaks at Kiwanis Club board meet

The district Kiwanis lieutenant governor addressed members of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis club at the organization's regular monthly board of directors meeting held Monday night in the Terrace Lounge.

Lieutenant governor J. Ray Anderson addressed the local club members concerning the Kiwanis bicentennial theme of "The Volunteer and the Nation." He emphasized the concept of the volunteer is as important today as it was 200 years ago.

"The volunteer who assists with senior citizen and young citizen programs in today's world is extremely important," Anderson said.

During the board meeting, the money received from McDonald's Restaurant, S. Elm Street, as the Kiwanis Club's share of the McDonald's May breakfast project, was distributed between the learning disabilities class of the Miami Trace School District, the learning disabilities class of the Washington C.H. School District, and the Fayette Progressive School.

"The club is very appreciative of the opportunity to work with McDonald's on this project," said Duane French, president of the Washington C.H. Kiwanis Club.

Initial discussion was held on the teen talent show for 1976 and in other matters, the resignation of William Golay was accepted with regret. Golay, general manager of the Raven Industries, Inc. plant in the city's industrial park, has been transferred to Sioux Falls, S.D.

Action on a contribution request from the Fayette County Choral Society to defray expenses was delayed until Dec. 8.

Interclub members were present from the Hilltop Club of Columbus.

George H. Shapter, new Washington C.H. city manager, will be the featured speaker at next Monday's Kiwanis club meeting in the Terrace Lounge.

Researcher seeks state aid to build solar-heat school

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — A University of Dayton researcher expects to hear from his "last resort" Wednesday to determine if he gets the go-ahead to make the weather a friend this time for tornado-torn Xenia.

The university hopes to incorporate a seven-year solar energy plan for heating into the proposed new school which was destroyed 19 months ago by a tornado. Its research institute is seeking state aid as "the last source available to keep this project alive."

Project leader Dr. Dale H. Whitford began the search for funds last June when the Xenia school board approved use of its planned high school to demonstrate solar energy for heating and cooling.

Whitford said he applied to the Ohio Energy Resource Development Agency for money in an attempt to fund the $710,000 project which involves no school financing.

Whitford said the state is the project's last chance to stay alive because of the school architect's tight schedule and the application deadline for federal funds.

He would not disclose the amount of money applied for but said federal aid was contingent upon the state's share.

"The project will depend entirely on what Ohio does," Whitford said. "We have worked closely with ERDA officials and we are confident we have an outstanding project in the eyes of Washington."

Whitford said the April 1974 tornado that destroyed the old high school provided an opportunity to extend the study to practical use.

The project, used in conjunction with a conventional heating system, could save as much as 70 per cent annually on fuel bills, school officials said. But the funds must be pledged now since the school is to be constructed by September 1977.
